

Germanium-based heterostructures for spin qubits and beyond

Germanium-based heterostructures provide a versatile material platform for quantum technology. In this talk, I will present the results of recent experiments involving both hybrid superconductor-semiconductor devices and multi-quantum-dot devices for spin qubit applications.

Silvano De Franceschi

Research Director